"Drawn Out Dramas" throughout by Serglo Aragonés

SERGE-IN GENERAL DEPT.

THE OBAMACARE WEBSITE LAUNCH DOA.GOV

The Affordable Care Act was to be President Obama's signature achievement, enabling millions of Americans to stop using sketchy home remedies every time they broke a pinky or got chlamydia. But when the online insurance exchange went live in October, 2013, the only thing it enabled millions of Americans to do was scream curses at a frozen computer screen. Healthcare.gov, the portal to apply for "Obamacare," was a hopelessly broken mess, seemingly designed by a team of idiot toddlers. As the problems got worse by the day, Health and Human Services Secretary Kathleen Sebelius was thrown under the scapegoat express, while Obama promised, "We're going to smooth this thing out." Sure, Barack. As if you can "smooth out" a debacle worthy of a summer disaster flick.

THE NSA SPYING ON EVERYONE SNOOP'S ON

Thanks to the NSA's spying program, privacy isn't merely dead, it's rotted and decomposing in a shallow grave. Your e-mails, Google searches and phone calls? reading? Not private! What's under your hat? Not private! Hell, they even know you're reading this intro! Exactly how does the NSA get away with continually

Not private, not private, not private, Your current location, credit history and "confidential" medical records? Not private, not private, not private, what you're violating the Constitution and gathering all this information without a warrant? No one can say for sure because that information somehow remains...private.

We can't deny it, there's nothing private
Though you don't like it
We check Goo-gle!
We're finally coppin', to our eavesdroppin'
But we ain't stoppin'
'Cause of Blurred Laws!

We're analyzin', and scrutinizin'
What are you hidin'?
When you Goo-gle?
We're cyber-stalkin', we hear you talkin'
E-mails we're gawkin'

(Rap)

Okay, we spy on you A lot of private correspondence that we view To track down the few who evil do Want to blow up planes with a bomb in their shoe! So cut some slack when we, um, review Forget about your rights, we've got to stop a coup — Think we have fun? Well, it's far from that Reading Facebook posts about your freakin' cat! Who gives a damn that you don't adore Like you're stuck in "1984" But we're only doing what we have to do There's a lot of creeps out there to pursue! So we're watchin', and waitin' There's a lot out there that sure is threatenin' But we mostly see just fat guys sextin' Photos of their junk and it's got us retchin'!

Tapped your phone, sit down, listen up Guess what I heard? Your wife's not at work! She's out with some jerk! NSA-ay-ay!

Just so we don't lose, this Al-Qaeda battle
We watch your every move, from Boston to Seattle!
If you say "treason," we'll have a reason
For search and seizin'
We're always checkin' your Goo-gle!
You want it private, don't try to hide it
We're gonna find it
Checkin' Goo-gle
We will uncover, each word you utter
Just like Big Brother
Because of Blurred Laws!

If you start dissin'...Americanism
You'll go to prison!
Because of Blurred laws
Info we're needin', so we're depletin'
All of your freedom!

Everybody 'fess up!

Whether you love Obama or hate him, you have to agree on one thing: he's one of only 43 dudes who have had the job. And if you're going to judge how he's doing, you really need to compare him to all those other knuckleheads! Let's take a look at...

THE DYSFUNCTIONAL U.S. CONGRESS HOUSE OF 'TARDS

In 2013, the John Boehner-led 113th Congress proved that government doesn't work...by not working! When Congress couldn't agree on a new budget and also wouldn't extend the old budget, it meant that there was...no budget. And with no budget, there was...no money. (Do you see how this could become problematic?) As a result, the government shut down — closing national parks, shuttering national monuments and leaving more than 800,000 government workers idle until it all got sorted out. Sure, the shutdown created a lot of huge problems — but at least Congress made a statement! And that statement was, "We're selfish, petulant asses." If there's any justice, voters will put them ALL on double-secret probation.

If their candidate is hawkish on defense... he's "reckless."

If your candidate is hawkish on defense... he's "keeping America safe."

OBAMA'S DRONE POLICY INNOCENTS LOST

In 2009, President Obama received the Nobel Peace Prize. Apparently none of the peace prize judges live in a country whereunmanned U.S. drone drop bombs on innocent people while killing or attempting to kill terrorists, would be terrorists or Facebook friends of either. Here's the question:

Is this a well-thought-out, productive use of our multi-trillion dollar military arsenal or are we just creating future generations of either? One thing's for sure: If President Bush had signed off on this, Michael Moore would have already completed an Academy Award-winning documentary about it. That said, we think there's a movie to be made about President Obama and his faithful companion, Biden

There's been a lot in the news lately about the U.S. government bailout of the nation's financial system. At least that's what we hear...the economy's so bad we had to sell our TV. And these days, who can afford to buy newspaper? If you're in the same sinking boat as we are, now's your chance to catch up on the story with...

The Bailout Hymn of the Republic

Our eyes have seen the sorrow of nation going bust,

Filled with bankers and politicos
that none of us can trust,
Not to mention Wall Street profiteers who fill us with disgust —
Our hopes and dreams are gone!

Lordy, lordy, how they blunder!
Major banks now going under!
Years of savings torn asunder—
Our hopes and dreams are gone!

We're now burdened with a stimulus that doesn't stimulate,
Full of all the pork and earmarks that Pelosi could create;
If that's "change we can believe in,"
then it's time to emigrate —
Once more they've led us on!

Bailout billions they are spending!

Down and down we are descending!

Don't expect a happy ending—

Once more they've led us on!

See the Big Three automakers

begging Congress on their knees,

"All we need is 15 billion — won't you help us, pretty please?"

They fly high in private jets

but can't outsell the Japanese —

Their screw-ups still go on!

Jesus Chrysler, though they're sweating, Tens of billions they'll be netting! They'll be back again, we're betting! Their screw-ups still go on!

Fanny Mae and Freddy Mac allowed the sub-prime loans to tank,
Which brought on the home foreclosures
when the housing market sank;
when the blame game,
give a nod to Barney Frank—
The madness still goes on!

Daily, daily, repossession!

More like legalized oppression!

Surely heading for depression!

The madness still goes on!

We've beheld the massive layoffs
at Alcoa and Mattel,
At Home Depot, Nike, Target, (gulp!)
at Microsoft as well;
Will your ass soon join the masses of discarded personnel?
The glory years are gone!

State by state, our woes are spreadin'—
Day by day we're surely headin'
Down the road to Armageddon—
The glory years are gone!

With Obama in the White House
we can sit back and relax,
Though he's tried to push through nominees who've cheated on their tax,
And his spending spree's enormous and will stretch us to the max,
We all must cheer him on!

Glory, glory, idolize him!
Praise his name and lionize him!
Shame on all who satirize him –
We all must cheer him on!

What, us worry? Yes, we do because our future's far from clear;
Though we used to publish monthly, now it's just four times a year;
Hey, Obama, use your clout and send some bailout money here —
Somehow we'll stumble on!

Hurry, hurry, please don't blow it!
Send a billion and we'll owe it!
Sure, it's pork, but who's to know it?
Somehow we'll stumble on!

Tea-Bagger Proof that Obama is a Terrorist/Socialist

The news media typically reviews a new President's performance after his first 100 days in office, using it as a barometer to measure the Commander-in-Chief's effectiveness. We say pshaw! 100: Call John McCain, see II he's still interested in the job

ANTIQUE SLIPESHOW PEPT.

Recently Bill Clinton said, "You could argue that no one is ever ready to be president," And the former Commanderin-Chief may have a point. But experience couldn't hurt in preparing someone for the Oval Office — and that's where John "Ready to lead from day one" McCain really excels. In fact, no presidential candidate in our nation's history has even come close to sporting the GOP nominee's lifetime experiences. To give you all the information necessary before you step into that voting booth, MAD presents...

2007 Take Back America Conference

Back when the Iraq War started, we couldn't help but notice that the buzzwords and catch phrases emanating from the White House and Pentagon weren't exactly meshing with reality. With the mission already accomplished, we hurriedly assembled a collection of examples and rushed them into print in MAD #438. We wanted to make sure that our article made it to publication before the war ended, Iraq was quiet, and all the troops were already home. As it turned out, we could have taken our sweet time about it. So what's the situation on the ground four years later? The oil might be getting scarce, but the B.S. is flowing just as freely as ever! And so, we present the second of what we never thought would turn out to be a long, long series...

The West Wing's President Bartlet II quite a guy – he's honorable, dignified and heroic – even when he lies! Yes, he's that rare politician we actually like. The only problem is that he's fictional. Which brings us to the current inhabitant of the Oval Office, George W. Bush, who we wish was fictional! The bad news II he's real and he's different from Bartlet in lots of other important ways too, as we astutely point out with...

A syou listen to President George W. Bush and his administration, you may notice a sort of bizarre logic emerge, a magical, childlike reality in which the only rules are the ones they make up themselves if this fanciful way of looking at the world seems familiar, it should Theodore Geisel (aka Dr. Seuss) perfected it decades ago. The big difference, of course, is that Geisel did it for fun in a delightful series of children's books. Dubya and his cronies do it to settle old debts, gain access to oil and curry favor with their ultra-right wing base. A nyway, sit back and enjoy...

THE STRANGE SIMILARITIES BETWEEN THE BUSh Administration AND World of Dr. Seuss

"You are giving our senior citizens prescription drug coverage under Medicare...You have doubled the child tax credit from $500 to $1,000, reduced the marriage penalty, begun to phase out the death tax, reduced taxes on capital gains and stock dividends, cut taxes on small businesses, and you have lowered taxes for every American who pays income taxes... Younger workers should have the opportunity to build a nest egg by saving part of their Social Security taxes in a personal retirement account...I will send you budget that funds the war, protects the homeland, and meets important domestic needs, while limiting the growth in discretionary spending to less than 4 percent. By doing so, we can cut the deficit in half over the next five years."

GEORGE W. BUSH FACES THE DRUG ISSUE HEAD-ON!

My fellow Americans, my Presidential coronation... uh, I mean, campaign...has been affected by rumors, innuendo and scurrilous fact. And so I have asked for this time to address the public.

I am here to deal with allegations of past drug use with full candor. I am here to answer the main question of the day. What is cocaine? It's defined as "a white, bitter, crystalline alkaloid." Furthermore, I am stating here today in plain view of the voters, that its chemical composition is represented as C₁₇H₂₁NO₄. I trust that this fully answers the charges against me.

I cannot undo history. The George W. Bush of 1974 is not the George W. Bush of 2000. That first George W. Bush, man, was he a total burnout. You wouldn't trust that hophead to walk your dog. But the George W. Bush of 2000 is ready to lead this nation. And the George W. Bush of 2000 wholeheartedly supports the phony, corrupt, unwinnable "War on Drugs." I support the words of Nancy Reagan: "Just say no comment."

Although the media is obsessed with Innuendo and gossip, I believe that the regular person is simply not interested. And that's what I've told the last 275 people who asked me about this scandal. Nobody's interested.

I hear these rumors, and I have to snort. I mean, laugh. It sickens me to see a Presidential election tainted by politics. My friends, this is

All right, that's not working. Let me answer in this way. I did not use drugs from October 2, 1970 through December 12th, then again from December 14 through the 30th. Starting in 1971, I abused no drugs whatsoever in January, April, May, or September. August 1972 was another good month for George W. Bush. As for '73 and '74, I'm going to have to ask someone. It's a total blur.

I believe that my frank talk puts this foolishness behind me, and I can get on with the important business of shaking soft money out of my dad's friends. And the public agrees. They want to hear me talk about my policies.

The economy! Social Security! Education! Moving forward to the next century! These are indeed things. Did I mention "Social Security"?

The people want to hear my positions on the issues. And as soon as I get myself one of those, I will be discussing it.

Okay, how about this one. I have "made mistakes." But I never got caught...i mean, "I have learned from my mistakes." Wink, wink. Get it?

To the 28,000 prisoners in my own state of Texas who were arrested for cocaine in 1998, I would say this. Follow my example. Learn from your mistakes. Of course, I'll be learning from my mistakes while riding my private jet, while you'll be learning from your mistakes while kneeling in front of a 280-pound sociopath named Armond. But it is from our differences that the American mosaic stays strong.

To those who would say that America cannot trust a man who hides his past, that America cannot accept a man who got rich quick on insider deals, that America cannot respect a man who ducked military service by getting his dad to put him in the National Guard, I have a simple answer. Tax cuts! Tax cuts, tax cuts, tax cuts! Vote for me, and there's a little something in it for you.

I believe in a higher power that protects us all. And that power is the obscene privilege I was granted at birth. God is pretty useful, too. And whatever mistakes i may have made, I have shown remorse and I have been forgiven. Yes, I have a "Get Out of Hell Free" card.

America needs a President of character, a President of morality. a President of values. And I will be all three of these Presidents. George W. Bush has a vision for America. Years ago, I had a shaky, double vision. Today, I am a passed-out conservative. Oh, sorry... compassionate conservative.

I can beat Bill Clinton in 2000. What? Clinton's not running anymore? That's okay...when you see the Republican TV ads, you'll sure think he is.

I end with this solemn pledge. George W. Bush vows to rid this nation of drugs... if necessary, one ounce at a time! God bless the statute of limitations, and God bless America!

Back in issue #398, some bleeding heart writer hijacked the pages of MAD for the purpose of exposing the hypocrisy of so-called Compassionate Conservatives. As result, we were inundated with letters of complaint, both of which pointed out that, hey, there's just as much, if not more, hypocrisy in certain species of the political left, such as the famous (even infamous) Hollywood Liberal! So, in the interests of equal time, we hereby present...

WHAT IS A CONSWOOD TO SHOW THE HINGRESTS OF EQUAL TIME, we hereby present...

A Hollywood Liberal is so outraged at the way big business and the wealthy throw money at Republican politicians...

.that they can't stop furning about it during their bi-monthly $25,000-a-plate fundraisers at Barbra Streisand's to benefit

Democratic candidates!

A Hollywood Liberal is against the school voucher system, which would result in millions of kids deserting the public Schools...

A Hollywood Liberal rails stridently in favor of letting women

Every U.S. President has had to deal with a variety of challenges and lead the country through many crises. Some have triumphed, others have failed. All of which got us to wondering - what if Bill Clinton had been Chief Executive in times past? Well, history buffs, wonder no more as MAD careens through the eons of time to present ...

PRESIDENT DENIES HIDING BEHIND FIRST LADY AT FORD'S THEATER

WASHINGTON - April 17. President Clinton today repudiated charges that he deliberately ducked behind First Lady Mary Todd Rodham Clinton to avoid being shot by John Wilkes Booth at Ford's 'Dishonest Abe' for nothing," said one Theater three days ago.

told reporters. "When Booth shouted 'Sic a village' and wanted to meet the author." (It Takes a Village is the title of the late First Lady's most recent, and apparently last, book.) "Rather than dwell on what happened, I think the First Lady's wishes would be to continue healing the nation's wounds after the Civil War through a series of tax cuts targeted m aid the middle class."

Clinton is also expected to use the fact difference before." that Booth used a flintlock pistol to press Congress for quick passage of the Brady Bill, a gun-control measure named for Civil War photographer Matthew Brady, who took countless photographs of military men lent" President. No southern states were holding flintlocks.

Clinton's explanation contradicted statements by several eyewitnesses, who said he intentionally used his wife as a shield when he saw Booth's gun. "They don't call him observer. The controversy has led to the "It just didn't happen that way," Clinton appointment of a special prosecutor, Ezekiel Starr. PRESIDENT HOLDS U.S. ARMY BLAMELESS AT WOUNDED KNEE MASSACRE IN SOUTH DAKOTA

Cites Faulty Peace Pipe Process

WASHINGTON - Dec 29. President Clinton refused to condemn the Army in the massacre killing of between 150 and 370 Indian men, women and children at Wounded Knee, South Dakota today.

"It's true that before troops opened fire, our generals smoked the peace pipe with tribal elders," he explained, "But under my order, none of our officers inhaled! This meant the Army wasn't required to follow any treaties, and they started shooting. Besides, our intelligence reports indicated the savages were manufacturing arrows, tomahawks and other weapons of mass destruction. It left us no alternative."

Many in Washington are critical of Clinton's ordering troops into action when he himself avoided serving in the cavalry by spending a year at Oxford University in England, Still, an unrepentant Clinton commented, "When I was elected, I pledged to end concern for the Indian's welfare as we know it, and I've fulfilled that promise. Now, our nation can get onwith the business of building a bridge to the 20th century."

The public seems to be siding with the President, as recent polls indicate 81% of the population gives him an "excellent" rating as Commander-In-Chief. None of the polis were taken on Indian reservations.

PRESIDENT SAYS SLOW RESPONSE TO PEARL HARBOR ATTACK HAS NOTHING TO DO WITH ASIAN CONTRIBUTIONS

WASHINGTON - Dec. 14. Addressing a joint session of Congress last night, President Clinton called for an all-out declaration to consider how to best respond to last week's unprovoked attack on Pearl Harbor by the Japanese, which resulted in the sinking of over 20 naval vessels and the deaths of approximately 3,000 American military personnel.

Critics immediately charged that the President's slow reaction is directly related to the millions of dollars of Asian campaign contributions he received during the last election.

In referring to the attack, not the one on Pearl Harbor, but the one on his character, Clinton began his remarks to Congress with "December 7th, 1941 -A day which will live in infamy, because of baseless charges made against me as part of a vast right-wing conspiracy."

Clinton went on to say, "We have to learn the reasons why our respected Asian friends launched their sneak attack before we can respond appropriately, and to that end I have sent Vice President Gore to attend a Buddhist Temple fundraiser, er, fact-finding conference."

Despite the seeming lack of decisive feadership, President Clinton's popularity rating is still at an all-time high. The rating began rising when he adopted a puppy named Fala last month. Following the President's address to Congress, Freshman Kansas Senator Robert Dole was heard exclaiming,

Have you seen this book? It's a collection of letters from our nation's youth to the presidential pets, Buddy the Dog and Socks the Cat! For some reason, Hillary Clinton decided to fill the book with precious little questions from precocious little children while leaving out the best part — the answers! What? Socks and Buddy couldn't be bothered to write back? Surely they could have taken time out of their "busy" schedules of sniffing butts and licking themselves to offer a few...

Thanks for your letter! Your Siamese, Mao,

I'm afraid your question about missile technology is far too complicated for me. My expertise begins and ends with balls of yarn. So I've forwarded your letter and the generous check over to the Democratic National Committee, I'm sure some wirehead there can tell you all about the geographical coordinates of San Diego and stuff like that.
